Live in style at Canvas. This intimate 14-unit condominium residence reflects the excitement of Long Island City's distinctive Court Square, where convenience meets an exceptional lifestyle. The striking eight-story building immediately catches the eye, as it is literally a canvas for Jojo Anavim. The visual artist's exterior multi-story custom mural sets the tone for inspired design — both on the outside façade and inside, where Jojo has placed another mural in the lobby. Within Long Island City's nexus for arts and culture, Canvas stands out as a personable community where residents will feel immediately at home. Shopping and dining are in all close proximity — with convenient transportation just steps away. The building features mostly one-bedroom units, highlighted by an expansive three-bedroom penthouse and a generously-sized one-bedroom convertible duplex on the ground floor that includes a backyard. This unique collection of residences mark a culmination within the neighborhood's evolution, providing easy access to all of its amenities, even as it serves as a quiet retreat amidst the neighborhood bustle. Distinctive premium craftsmanship is reflected ...
